

DelCo Alliance for Environmental Justice

presents a

Film Screening and Panel Discussion

Laid to Waste

Environmental Racism & Health Risks In Your Backyard

Over 700 Tons of Toxicants Released Yearly Through Air/Water by Delaware County Industries Are We Willing to Continue to Take Risks with Our Health?

The film Laid to Waste asks whether it's fair that so many industries of a type that no one wants to live next to should be located in one city. Are these industries why Chester residents have higher than normal rates of respiratory illness and cancer? Is this environmental racism? A question we raise now is what are the health risks to all Delaware County residents constantly exposed to chemicals such as benzene, naphthalene, lead, hydrochloric acid, sulfuric acid, ethylene, propylene, methanol and many others?

Saturday, February 9, 2PM

Widener University, Kapelski Learning Center

Corner of 14th & Walnut Streets, Chester

Parking: Corner of 14th and Walnut or 17th and Walnut, Chester

Public Transportation: Bus #109

For more information: 484-302-0385; delcoalliance@ejnet.org; www.ejnet.org/chester

Co-sponsored by: Earthlust, Citizen Access, Green Party of Delaware County, Films for a Sustainable Future, Friends of Ridley Creek State Park, Delaware County Concerned Citizens for Environmental Change, Sierra Club, DelCo Action Seniors, Ghetto Print, ActionPA, Energy Justice Network, Public Interest Law Center of Philadelphia, Coalition for Peace Action ChesCo/DelCo